

Education for SDGs commitment to meaningful education

WUAJK is deeply committed to addressing the current era's economic, social, and environmental challenges through knowledge and the power of meaningful education. The university offers undergraduate students a wide range of mandatory and elective subjects, fostering their understanding of local and global sustainability issues. Furthermore, the university ensured the integration of sustainability into research and development along with teaching to develop international connections in all aspects. Along with traditional classroom teaching, the university offers practical activities by arranging seminars/ workshops so that students will get practical knowledge and focus specifically on SDGs.

Courses offered

At WUAJK&K, several SDG courses are offered, as summarized in the following graph. Besides this, the details of the courses can be found on the prospectus available online at the link:

Research activities

We have conducted extensive research on various aspects of the SDGs, with findings available on SCOPUS. Our work highlights the significance of education and the importance of global cooperation in achieving these goals, aligning with SDG 17, which focuses on partnerships for the goals. Collaborations with international countries have enriched our studies, providing diverse perspectives and fostering knowledge exchange. Annex. I

Seminars/ workshops

The WUAJ&K organizes seminars and workshops based on the SDGs, as provided in the following link. In addition, the seminar details are provided in the SDG reports.
